

And the Rain Came Tumbling Down

They moved into their dream home on a Friday and Monday morning her husband of nineteen years woke with a headache. Within days, Jeff was diagnosed with stage four Glioblastoma brain cancer and their lives were forever changed. And The Rain Came Tumbling Down, written by Karen Krehbiel and her husband, Jeff, chronicles his two-year medical journey from diagnosis to death. You will laugh one moment and cry the next as you read the daily entries packed with wit, raw emotion, and deep spiritual insight. This true story follows Jeff, Karen and their teen daughter, Brittany, from the Oklahoma wheat fields to board meetings and high school softball games; from home repairs to chemo and radiation treatments and back to church the following Sunday. And The Rain Came Tumbling Down places the Christian faith of the Krehbiel family under a microscope and reveals the Solid Rock on which they stand.
